

INDEX

TO THE

TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTIETH VOLUME OF THE QUARTERLY REVIEW.

[Titles of Articles are printed in heavier type. The names of authors of articles are printed in italics.]

A.

Aeroplanes for military purposes, 559.

Africa. South, self-governing colonies of, growth of population, 539.

Aircraft in War, 558—the term 'aerial supremacy,' ib.—the air service of France, 558, 560—airships, aeroplanes and kites for military purposes, 559—the German organisation, 560—British, 561—the Military Wing, 561, 562—564—the Naval Wing, 561, 562—utility in reconnaissance, 564—567—suitable landing-grounds, 566—action of aircraft against aircraft in the air, 567—against troops on the ground, 568.

Airships for military purposes, 559.

Alcohol, use of, for motor fuel, 184.

America, War of Independence, 110.

Asquith, Rt Hon. H. H., M.P., his views on the Home Rule Bill, 274, 277, 278—his dilatory tactics on the Home Rule crisis, 571—proposal of a referendum to be held in Ulster, 573.

Atlantic Cable, proposed, 138—cost of the line, 139.

Australasia, self-governing colonies of, growth of population, 539.

B.

Balfour, Rt Hon. A. J., M.P., 'Nationality and Home Rule,' 267.

Barklie, John, 'The Title Tangle in Southern Rhodesia,' 254.

Beaumont and Fletcher, The Plays of, 25—their friendship, 26—publication of their plays, 27—corruption of the age, 28—character of their plays, 30—44—plots, 32—'The Coxcomb,' and other plays, 36—44—their services to drama, 41—influence of Jonson, ib.—collaboration with Massinger, 43—their genius for lyric, 44.

Benoit-Hanappier, L., 'Le Drame Naturaliste en Allemagne,' 95.

Berry, Dr Henry F., 'Early Statutes,' edited by, 420, 422.

Bosanquet, Bernard, 'The Philosophy of Eucken,' 365.

Bradley, F. H., 'Ethical Studies,' extract from, 375—his Preface to 'Appearance and Reality,' 378.

Brailsford, H. N., 'The Broom of the War God,' 486—'Macedonia,' 487.

Bright, Charles, 'Inter-imperial Telegraphy,' 134.

British Foreign Policy in the Last Century, 291. See Clarendon and Lyons.

- British South Africa Company, grant of a charter, 536. See Rhodesia.
- Broke, Lord Willoughby de, his Introduction to 'National Revival,' 196.
- Brougham, Lord, on the achievements of Lazare Carnot, 345.
- Bucer, Martin, and the Reformation, 116—his birth, 117—joins the Dominican Order at Schlettstadt, ib.—his relations with Luther, 118—freed from his monastic vows, ib.—marriage, ib.—at Strassburg, 119—his lectures, 120—friendship with Jacob Sturm, 121—influence of his controversial writings, ib.—power of organisation, 122—establishment of schools, ib.—arbiter and adviser, 123—drafts ecclesiastical ordinances, ib.—his views on the disputes between Luther and Zwingli, 124—128—received by the Archbishop of Canterbury, 129—his criticisms on the state of religion in England, 129—131—appointed to the chair of theology at Cambridge, 131—'De Regno Christi,' ib.—his death, ib.—compiles the 'Consultation' or plan of reformation, 132—his treatise 'De re vestiaria in sacris,' and 'Censura,' ib.—influence on the English Reformation, 133.
- Bulgaria, relations with Greece, 487, 498—number in Macedonia, 488—campaign against Turkey, 493—begins the second war, 497—aggressions, 498.
- Bulgarians, character of their rule in Macedonia, 507—treatment of the Greek women, 507 note—retreat from Kilis, 509—alleged atrocities, 511—516—barbarities and massacres by the Greeks, 511—523.
- Bullen, A. H., 'The Works of Beaumont and Fletcher,' edited by, 28.
- Bulthaupt, Heinrich, 'Dramaturgie des Schauspiels,' 94.
- Burghclere, Lady, 'The Life of James, First Duke of Ormonde,' 434.
- Burns, Robert, his admiration of Gray's 'Elegy,' 396.
- Burrows, Ronald M., 'The New Greece,' 483.
- Burton, Robert, 'History of the Principality of Wales,' 357.
- Butler, Samuel, 152. See 'Erewhon.'
- Butterfield, Mr., his estimate on the yield of oil shale, 181.
- C.
- Cables, British, under foreign control, 136—compared with wireless, 146—151.
- Callendar, Prof. H. L., his address to the British Association at Dundee, 339, 347.
- Canada, views on the proposed Imperial Naturalisation Bill, 15, 21—24.
- Carlill, James, 'The Carnot Family,' 339.
- Carnegie Commission, evidence on the Greek atrocities in Macedonia, 506, 515, 522.
- Carnot Family, The, 339—at Nohay, ib.—Claude and Margaret, their sons and daughters, 340—the appearance and military exploits of Feulint, 342—career of Lazare, 343—his conduct at the battle of Wattignies, ib.—work as Organisateur de la Victoire, 344—absence of ambition, ib.—mathematical writings, 345—scientific mind, ib.—his paper on dirigible balloons, 346—organisation of primary education, ib.—career of his son Sadi, 347—his 'Reflexions sur la Puissance Motrice du Feu,' ib.—career of Hippolyte, 349—Marie François Sadi, ib.—appointed Finance Minister, ib.—elected President, 350—murdered, ib.—researches of Adolphe, 351—his sons, ib.
- Case, Prof. R. H., 'The Plays of Beaumont and Fletcher,' 25.
- Cecil, Algernon, 'Some Reflections on Patriotism,' 194.
- Cecil, Lord Hugh, 'Conservatism,' 203, 208.
- Chamberlain, Rt Hon. A., M.P., on federal government for the United Kingdom, 276.
- Chopin, his friendship with George Sand, 322, 330—defection, 334.

Christians and Pagans, contrast between, 60, 61.

Churchill, Rt Hon. W., M.P., his views on the Home Rule Bill, 273—character of his speech at Bradford, 575.

Clarendon, George Villiers, Fourth Earl of, succeeds to the title, 296—his marriage, 298—joins the Melbourne Ministry, 299—views on Free Trade, 300—Viceroy of Ireland, ib.—appointed Foreign Secretary, 301-303, 305—his criticisms on Lord Palmerston, 304—political views, ib.—characteristics of his letters, 305, 306.

Colvin Ian D., 'The Future of Rhodesia: For the Charter,' 524.

Conservatism, character of its principles, 210—danger of immoderate language, 215—greatness of heart, the true spirit, 218.

Cordelier, John, 'The Spiral Way,' 222, 243.

Cowper, W., his letter to J. Hill on the poems of Gray, 395.

D.

Darwin, Charles, 'The Origin of Species,' 166—his relations with S. Butler, 167.

Darwin, Sir Francis, extract from his presidential address to the British Association in 1908, 169.

Dawson, Richard, 'The Progress of Rhodesia,' 247.

Deissmann, A., 'St Paul,' 47.

Dowson, M. E., 236. See Palmer.

Dragoumis, Ion or Idas, 'The Blood of Martyrs and Heroes,' 489—'Samothrake,' 502.

Dunlop, Robert, 'The English in Ireland,' 414.

E.

England, the currency policy, 468—use of cheques and notes, 481

England, the Reformation, 129—state of religion, 130—influence of Martin Bucer, 133.

'Erewhon,' The Author of, 152—a humorous philosopher, 153, 161—list of his 'finds,' 154—his birth and education, 155—work among the poor, ib.—sheep-farming in New Zealand, 156—returns to London and studies painting, ib.—'Erewhon,' 157—'The Fair Haven,' ib.—'Life and Habit,' 157, 168, 170—his views on the importance of money, 157—a Hedonist, 159—on the meaning of 'grace,' ib.—his views on religion, 160—belief in compromise, 161—'Evolution Old and New,' and other literary works, 162-165, 168—translation of the 'Odyssey' and the 'Iliad,' 162—'The Sonnets of Shakespeare,' 163—his view of the relative importance of the two lives, 164—views on the work of Darwin, 165-168—'Luck or Cunning?' 138—scientific views, 168-171—views on Identity, 170—'The Way of All Flesh,' 171, 172.

Eucken, The Philosophy of, I, 365—his 'New Idealism,' ib.—his activism, 366, 388—use of the words 'new' and 'breach,' 367—character of the New Idealism, 368—progressist and ethical, ib.—humanistic, 369—meaning of the words Personalism and Individualism, ib.—the self-existent spiritual world, 370—his 'life-systems' or 'syntagmas,' 371—watchwords, Form, ib.—Process, Naturalism and Intellectualism, 372—'Noological,' ib.—relation of the eternal order to the progressive world, 373—whether evil is or can be overcome, 374—how the moral attitude can be reconciled with religion, ib.—his wide influence, 376—tone of his moralisings, ib.—his vice of Intellectualism, 377—his Syntagma theories not life-systems, ib.—opinion on his activism, 378—II, Criticisms on his philosophy, 379—subordination of the concept to the life-process, 380—vitalistic element, 381-383—personalistic or 'activistic' element, 383—truth for constructive philosophy, the conceptual flower of Reality, 384-387—influence of Religion, 387—his treatise 'Die Einheit des Geisteslebens,' 388.

F.

Fairless, Michael, 'The Road-mender,' 236—character of her mysticism, 236, 240.

FitzGerald, Edward, on the merit of the 'Elegy,' 393.

Fletcher, John, his plays, 25. See Beaumont.

France, the currency policy, 468—Bank of France, system of issuing notes, 481—the Air Service, 558, 560.

Friedmann, Sigismund, 'Das deutsche Drama,' 94.

G.

George V, King, loss of his prerogative, 195.

German Drama, The Contemporary, 69—production of 'Die Karolinger,' 70—the anthology 'Moderne Dichtercharakteren,' 71—influence of Ibsen, 71, 80—the 'Free Stage' of Berlin, 72—G. Hauptmann's 'Vor Sonnenaufgang,' 73—'Das Friedensfest,' ib.—'Einsame Menschen,' and 'Die Weber,' 74—Sudermann's 'Ehre,' ib.—character of the drama, 75—power of environment, 76—the naturalistic drama, 77—'Hannele,' ib.—craving for a neo-idealism, 79—influence of Nietzsche, 80—'Die Versunkene Glocke,' 82—'Der Schleier der Beatrice,' 83—'Monna Vanna,' 84—'Electra,' 85—religious drama, ib.—the rise of G. d'Annunzio, 86—'Salome,' ib.—G. B. Shaw, 87—Max Halbe and other dramatists, 88–90—the drama of Sehnsuchtmensch, 91—characteristics of Wildenbruch, 92—Sudermann, ib.—Hauptmann, 93—views of critics, 94.

Germany, the currency policy, 468, 481—organisation of the Air Service, 560.

Gibson, W. R. Boyce, 'The Philology of Eucken,' 379.

Gilbert, Sir J. S., 'History of the Irish Confederation,' 102.

Gold currency for India, 466 et seq.

Goschen, Lord, on the substitution of small notes for gold, 468.

Gosse, Edmund, 'The Works of Thomas Gray,' edited by, 398.

Gough, General, his refusal to serve against Ulster, 580—reinstatement, 583.

Gray, Thomas, The Letters of, 390—character of his poems, 392—the 'Elegy,' 393—'The Ode on a Distant Prospect of Eton College,' ib.—Hymn to Adversity, 394—the personal element, ib.—opinion of Cowper and Burns, 395—Johnson, 396—his characteristics, 397, 405—publication of his letters, 398—discovery of his letters to Walpole 399—satirical sketch of Cambridge, 400, 406—at Burnham, 402—his travels, 403—letter to Ashton, 404—to West, ib.—his fastidiousness and refinement, 405—visits to the country, 407—limited means, ib.—relations with the undergraduates, 408—horror of fire, ib.—'Progress of Poesy,' 409—scholarship, ib.—wide reading and culture, 410—critical gift, ib.—terror of his life, 411–413—appointed Professor at Cambridge, 412.

Greece, The New, 483—first revival, ib.—second revival, 484—a refining and civilising force, ib.—defects of the Greeks, ib.—population, 485, 501—problem of the 'unredeemed,' 485—result of the war with Turkey, 486—H. N. Brailsford's 'The Broom of the War God,' ib.—the Macedonian question, 487—number of Greeks in Bulgaria, 488—memento from Macedonia, 489—Ion Dragoumis' 'The Blood of Martyrs and Heroes,' ib.—formation of the Military League, 490—character of E. Venizélos' leadership, ib.—his initiation of the Balkan League, 491—organisation and discipline of the army, 492, 501—capture of the fortress of Janina, 492—command of the sea, 493—difficulty of dividing the spoil, ib.—election arrangements, 494—Venizélos' lofty conception of patriotism, 495–497—character of Bulgarian statesmanship, 497—accusations against, 498—the affair of Akandjali, 499—territory, 501—development of the new provinces, ib.—motto, 502—value of the literary movement, ib.—lament over Dimitri Livanás, 502–505.

Greeks, their devastation of Macedonia, 508, 523—accusations against, 509—evidence of refugees, 510, 517—barbarities and massacres, 511—523—'Intercepted Letters,' 511, note—accusations against the Bulgarians, 511—516—systematic plan, 521.

Grey, Lord, his views on Federalism and Nationalism, 288.

Guiney, Louise Imogen, 'Milton and Vaughan,' 353.

H.

Haggard, A. M., 'Michael Fairless, Her Life and Writings,' 236.

Halbe, Max, 'Der Eroberer,' 84—'Jugend,' 88.

Hanstein, Adalbert von, 'Das Jüngste Deutschland,' 95.

Harnack, Adolf, 'The Expansion of Christianity,' 62.

Harrison, F. C., 'Indian Finance and Currency,' 465.

Hauptmann, Gerhart, 'Vor Sonnenaufgang,' 73—'Das Friedensfest,' ib.—'Die Weber,' 74—'Hannele,' 77—'Führmann Henschel,' 78—'Die Versunkene Glocke,' 82—'Und Pippa tanzt,' ib.—character of his writing, 93.

Hegel, F. von, his influence on the philosophy of Eucken, 381.

Henry II, King, lands at Waterford, 417—his progress through Ireland, ib.—method of government, 418.

Heywood, Thomas, 'The Life of Merlin,' 357.

Hobhouse, L. T., 'Liberalism,' 203.

Home Rule Crisis and a National Settlement, 266—character of the real issue, 267—the Irish claim to separate national existence, a fictitious claim, ib.—result of the Parliament Act, 268—resistance of Ulster, justified, 269—the Unionist party pledged to support Ulster, 270—result of civil war, ib.—views of Lord Loreburn, 272, and other members of Parliament, 273—278—

F. S. Oliver's pamphlet on 'The Alternatives to Civil War,' 279—result of the proposed exclusion of Ulster, 280—283—conditions of a settlement, 283—285, 290—appointment of a Convention, 283—objection to a 'standardised' Home Rule, 285—recognition of the right of Irishmen to frame their constitution, 286—federalism compared with nationalism, 288—work of the Convention, 289.

Home Rule Crisis, The, 570—extract from the King's Speech, 571—dilatory tactics of Mr Asquith, 572—declaration against, ib.—demonstration of April 4th, 573—proposal of a referendum to be held in Ulster, ib.—the six years' limit, 574—rejection of the proposal, 575—uncompromising speech of Mr Churchill at Bradford, ib.—military measures against Ulster, 576—579—instructions to General Paget, 580—conditions to the officers, ib.—their refusal to operate against Ulster, 581—character of the British Army, 581, 584—capitulation of the Government, 582—reinstatement of General Gough, 583—Colonel Seely at the Cabinet Council, ib.—his additional paragraphs to the memorandum, 584—policy adopted by the Ministers, 585—repudiation of the assurance given by Colonel Seely, 586—resignation of the two generals and Col. Seely, 587—prevarication of Ministers, ib.—debate on the second reading of the Home Rule Bill, 588—Sir E. Grey's proposal, ib.—result of the policy of conciliation, 590.

Hone, Percy F., 'Southern Rhodesia,' 253.

Hozier, Col. Sir Henry, secretary to Lloyd's, 458.

I.

Ibsen, H., his influence on the German drama, 71, 80.

Inchcape, Lord, director of the National Provincial Bank of England, 476—his letter to Sir E. Holden, ib.

Indian Finance and Currency,
 465—appointment of a Royal Commission, ib.—conclusions, 466—question of a gold currency, ib.—advantages of using gold, 467—a support to exchange, 468—need for sufficient, 469, 482—liquidation of an adverse balance, 469—use of silver rupees instead of gold, 470—merits of the present system, 471—the use of a paper currency in Nicaragua, ib.—system in Java, 472—estimate of the rupee and note circulation, 473—difference between gold and gold securities, 474—custody of cash balances, 475—list of available banks, 476—proposed establishment of a Central Bank, 477, 480—Presidency, Exchange and Local Banks, 478—conflict of interest between the Government and the Banks in regard to the internal exchanges, 479—various proposed changes, 480—the note system, 481.

Inge, Rev. W. R., Dean of St Paul's, 'St Paul,' 45.

Insurance and Lloyd's, 441. See Lloyd's.

Ireland, The English in, 414—history of the first English colony, 415—invasion by Robert Fitzstephen, 416—Henry II lands at Waterford, 417—appoints Hugh de Lacy his viceroy, 418—progress of the colony, ib.—treatment of the Irish by the invaders in the reign of John, 419—political, legal, and social rights, ib.—period of consolidation and internal development, 420—works on, 420, 425, 430—constitutional government, 421—the fundamental law of the connexion, 422—social incidents, 423—the Marches, 424—causes for the process of decay, 424–426—the Statute of Kilkenny, 426—relations between the Irish and the colonists, 427—legislative measures, 428—ascendancy of the House of Kildare, 428–430—result of the downfall, 430, 432—'consolidation of the clans,' 430—attempts to force the Reformation, 431—dangers of a bureaucratic system of government, ib.—relations between the gentry of the Pale and the English official class, 432—policy of Charles I, 433—outbreak of the Rebellion, 433, 435—the Cromwellian Settlement, 434–437—disadvantages of James,

Duke of Ormond, 434—policy of Charles II, 436–438—James II, 438—repeal of the Act of Settlement, 439.

Ireland, fictitious claim to separate national existence, 267.

J.

James, Henry, 'George Sand,' 315.

Jameson, Sir Starr, his views on responsible government for Rhodesia, 249—on the result of concessions, 251.

Java, gold exchange system, 472.

Jebb, Richard, 'The Imperial Naturalisation Bill,' 1—'The Britannic Question,' 214.

Jewish religion, historical and teleological character, 54.

Johnson, Dr., on the value of letters, 390—his opinion of the poems of Gray, 396.

Johnston, Leslie, 'Modern Mysticism: Some Prophets and Poets,' 220.

Jonson, Ben., his influence on the plays of Beaumont and Fletcher, 41.

K.

Karénine, Mdme Vladimir, 'George Sand, sa Vie et ses Œuvres,' 315, 322.

Keith, A. B., 'Responsible Government in the Dominions,' 2 note.

Kites, for military purposes, 559.

Klopp, Onno, 'Der Fall des Hauses Stuart im Zusammenhange der europäischen Angelegenheiten, 1660–1714,' 438.

L.

Lansdowne, Lord, on the Home Rule Bill, 276.

Law, Rt Hon. Bonar, M.P., on the Home Rule Bill, 275.

Lewes, Prof. Vivian B., 'Oil Fuel,' 179.

Liberalism, character of its principles, 199—partisanship, 199-201.

Lindsay, Principal Thomas M., 'Martin Bucer,' 116.

Litzmann, Berthold, 'Das deutsche Drama,' 94.

Lloyd's and Insurance, 441—growing habit of insurance, ib.—history of Lloyd's, 442—collection and dissemination of news, ib.—the reports, 443—use of stations, ib.—signal-stations, 444—function of the agents, 445—work of the London Salvage Association, ib.—case of the 'Oceana,' 446—importance of accurate news, ib.—cases of mistakes, 447—the Captain's Register, 448—trade movements, ib.—Register of British and Foreign Shipping, 449—construction of vessels, ib.—members of the Committee, 450—the Royal Exchange, ib.—the Lutine Bell, 451—the Casualty Book, ib.—business of the brokers, 452—the underwriters, 453—tendency towards co-ordination, 454—rigorous code of honour, 455—different types of ships and various risks, 455-457—committee of management, 457—election of chairmen, ib.—funds of the underwriting members, 458—extension of non-marine business, 459—war insurance, 460—strikes, 461-463—holiday rain scheme, 463—aviation and race-horses, ib.—coronation day, 464—General Election, ib.

London Salvage Association, work of the, 445.

Longden, J. H., 'The Future of Rhodesia: Against the Charter,' 536.

Loreburn, Lord, his views on the Home Rule Bill, 272.

Lothar, Rudolph, 'Das deutsche Drama der Gegenwart,' 95.

St Luke, his characteristics, 48.

Luscombe, Sir John, elected chairman of Lloyd's, 457, 458.

Luther, Martin, his 'Ninety-five Theses,' 118—disputes with Zwingle, 124.

Lutine Bell, in the Royal Exchange office, 451.

Lyons, Lord, his character as an ambassador, 306—at Washington, 307—Paris, 307-312—on the relations between France and England, 311—resigns his post, 312—death, ib.

M.

Macaulay, Lord, his views on Milton, 357.

MacCarthy, Desmond, 'The Author of "Erewhon,"' 152.

Macdonald, J. Ramsay, 'The Socialist Movement,' 203.

Macedonia, The Devastation of, 506—character of the Bulgarian rule, 507—population, ib.—severity of the devastation, 508, 523—number and condition of the refugees, 509, 517—accusations against the Greeks, 509—depositions of the refugees, 510, 517—barbarity of the Greeks, 511-523—alleged atrocities of the Bulgarians, 511—the 'Intercepted Greek Letters,' 511 note, 521—case of Doxato, 513—Serres, 514—sack of Bulgarkuei, 518—systematic plan of the Greeks, 521.

Macedonian question, 487—yield of tobacco, 501.

Mackay, Sir James, 476. See Inchcape.

Mahaffy, Prof., his Introduction to 'Revolutionary Ireland,' 415 note.

Mason, W., 'The Poems of Mr Gray, to which are prefixed Memoirs of his Life and Writings,' 398.

Massinger, his collaboration with Fletcher, 43—'The Roman Actor,' 44.

Masson, Prof., on the life of Milton, 358, 360—on his religious views, 362.

Maughan, Cuthbert, 'Lloyd's and Insurance,' 441.

Maxwell, Rt Hon. Sir H., 'The Life and Letters of the Fourth Earl of Clarendon,' 306, 314.

- McKechnie, Dr W. S., 'The New Democracy and the Constitution,' 201.
- Mentz, F., und Alf. Erichson, 'Bibliographische Zusammenstellung der gedruckten Schriften Butzer's,' 116.
- Miletitch, Dr L., 'Atrocités Grecques en Macédoine,' 515.
- Military motor vehicles, War Department subsidy scheme, 188-192.
- Mills, James, 'Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls,' edited by, 420.
- Milner, Lord, 'The Nation and the Empire,' 197, 211, 212, 214, 216.
- Milton and Vaughan, 353—Milton's influence on the poems of Vaughan, 355—character of his prose pamphlets, ib.—political views, 357—'Tenure of Kings and Magistrates,' 358—blindness, ib.—pamphlet, 'Church Government,' 360—religious views, 362—idealism, 364.
- Moryson, Fynes, extract from his 'Itinerary,' 97.
- Moseley, H., his publication of Milton's book of verse, 355.
- Motor Transport: A National Question, 178—demand and supply of petrol, 179—employment of alternative fuels, 180—yield of oil shale, 181—coke-oven gas, 182—'stripping' spirit from coal gas, bituminous and cannel coals, ib.—increasing use of motors, 183—use of alcohol as a fuel, 184—work of the committee of the Imperial Motor Transport Council, 185—cost of operating motor vehicles, 186—improvement of roads, ib.—essential features in the vehicles, 187—type of independent tractor, ib.—free provision of expert information and advice, 188—military motor vehicles, 188-192—War Department subsidy scheme, 189-192—agricultural motors, 192.
- Murray, R. H., 'The Evolution of the Ulsterman,' 96—'Revolutionary Ireland and its Settlement,' 106.
- Murray, Dr Robert H., 'Revolutionary Ireland,' 415 note, 438.
- Mysticism, Modern: Some Prophets and Poets, 220—works on, 222—definition of mysticism, 223-225—three stages of the 'Mystic Way,' 225—the works of Francis Thompson, 227-232—R. Tagore, 232-236—M. Fairless, 236—tendency of an 'immanentist' type of religious experience, 237—their love for children, 238—appreciation of nature, 239—character of their faith, 240—view of God, 241—esoteric attitude of mystics, 242—of Miss Underhill, 243—J. Cordelier, 244—common attitude to reality, 245.
- N.
- 'National Revival,' 197, 202, 209.
- National Settlement and the Home Rule Crisis, 266. See Home.
- Naturalisation Bill, The Imperial, 1—meaning of the term, 2—anomaly to be rectified, 2, 11—rights or privileges of a British subject, 3—responsibilities or liabilities, ib.—political rights, 4—use of the term 'citizen,' 5—report on the interpretation and administration of the naturalisation laws, ib.—case of 'double nationality,' 6—principles of Common Law, ib.—Statute Law, 7—admission of foreigners to British subjecthood, ib.—Act of 1844, 8—of 1870, ib.—disqualifications of aliens, 9—status of wives and children, 10—proposed remedial measures, 12, 15—question of constitutional principle, 13—character of the colonial laws, 14—Aliens Act of 1905, 15—misapprehension of the question, 17—character of the Bill, 18-21—objections of the British Government, 19—twofold purpose, 21—attitude of Canada, 21-24.
- 'New-Idealism,' philosophy of, 365—characteristics, 368.
- Newman, Cardinal, on the value of letters, 390.
- Newton, Lord, 'Lord Lyons: a Record of British Diplomacy,' 307, 314.
- Nicaragua, system of paper currency, 471.

Nicholson, Prof., criticism of his article on 'The Vagaries of Recent Political Economy,' 174-176—note by, 176.

Nietzsche, F., his influence on the drama, 80, 83.

Nordau, Max, 'Degeneration,' extract from, 223.

Northup, Prof. C. S., Introduction and Notes to 'Essays and Criticisms by Thomas Gray,' 399, 409.

O.

O'Leary, Dr, his account of the sack of Bulgarkeui, 518-520.

Oliver, F. S., 'The Alternatives to Civil War,' 279.

Ormond, James, First Duke of, Life of, viceroy of Ireland, 434—effect on his career of his religious views, ib.—his policy, 435—Act of Settlement, 436—removed from office, 437—reappointed viceroy, 438.

Orpen, Goddard Henry, 'Ireland under the Normans,' 416.

P.

Pagans and Christians, contrast between, 60, 61.

Paget, General Sir A., his measures against Ulster, 577—instructions from the Government, 578, 580, 587.

Palmer, William Scott (M. E. Dowson), 'Michael Fairless, Her Life and Writings,' 236.

Parliament Act, result of the, 268.

Patriotism, Some Reflections on, 194—the spirit of the old constitution, 195—decline of the monarchy, ib.—works on, 196-198, 203—Lord Milner's 'The Nation and the Empire,' 197, 210-212, 214—'A National Revival,' 197, 202—definition of the term 'patriotism,' 199—want of patriotism in modern Liberalism, 199-201—danger of democracy, 201—the will of the people, the wrong standard, 202—R. Macdonald's 'Socialist Movement,' 203—views on the character of Socialism, 204-208—Lord H.

Cecil's 'Conservatism,' 208-210, 212—character of Conservatism, 210, 215—function of the House of Lords, 213—development of the Imperial idea, ib.—administration of foreign affairs, 215—dangers of immoderate language, ib.—criticisms on the leaders, 216—evils of candidature, 217—the true Conservative spirit, 218.

St Paul, 45—his personal characteristics, 45, 53—criticisms on, 46—authenticity of the Epistles, 47—place of his birth, 49—a 'tent-maker,' 50—his appearance, ib.—education, 51—physical trouble, ib.—privations and sufferings, 52—temptations, 53—influence of the Pharisaic teaching, 54-56—dissatisfaction with the stoning of Stephen, 57—becomes a Christian, 58—character of his preaching, 59-61—his eloquence and sincerity, 60—contrast between Christian and Pagan society, ib.—his missionary journeys, 61—in Rome, ib.—rejection of Christianity by the Jews, 62—development of his teaching, 63, 64—characteristics of the Christian communities, 65—his use of the word 'mystery,' 66—transitional teaching, 67.

Perry, Prof., 'Present Philosophical Tendencies,' extract from, 380.

Petrol, demand and supply of, 178—alternative fuels, 180.

Pigou, Prof. A. C., his criticism of Prof. Nicholson's article on 'The Vagaries of Recent Political Economy,' 174-176.

Poincaré, M., his oration over the monument to President Carnot, 339, 350.

Political Economy, The Vagaries of Recent: A Reply and Rejoinder, 174-177.

Poncy, Charles, letter from George Sand, 336.

Puaux, René, on the alleged Bulgarian atrocities, 516.

R.

Ramsay, Sir W. M., 'St Paul the Traveller and the Roman Citizen,' 47.

Redwood, Sir Boverton, 'Petroleum and its Products,' 179.

Reformation, The, and Martin Bucer, 116. See Bucer.

Rhodes, Cecil, his administration of Rhodesia, 524—views on a self-governing State, 529—on the work of the Chartered Company, 535.

Rhodesia, The Future of: I. For the Charter, 524—specific criticisms of the Company, 525—alienation of land, 525-527—mining policy, 527—railways, ib.—'commercial taint,' 528—question of self-government for Southern Rhodesia, 528-530, 551—cost of administration and defence, 530-532—alternative of inclusion in the Union, 532-534, 553—renewal of the Charter, 534—justification of the Company rule, ib.—record of its work, 535. II. Against the Charter, 536—double character of the Company, ib.—development of Southern Rhodesia, 538, 540—compared with Bechuanaland, ib.—tables showing the growth of population in the self-governing colonies of Australasia and South Africa, 539—population, 540—baneful commercial influence, ib.—opposition between the Company and the settlers, 541—Goldie Scheme, ib.—the pro-Charter party, 542—the mining industry, ib.—the anti-Charter party, 543-546—the farming industry, 544—Agricultural Union, 544, 547—patriotisms of the Rhodesian, 545—of the home-born, ib.—Conference in the Goldie Scheme at Salisbury, 546—Labour Tax Ordinance and the Rhodesian League, 547—dissatisfaction against the Company, ib.—additional representation in the Legislative Council, 548—Land Settlement Scheme, 549—the forthcoming elections, 550—form of responsible government, 551—representative government, 552—case for Union, 553—objections to the inclusion, 553, 556—advantages, 554—railway question, ib.—management of the natives, 555—Asiatic question, ib.

Rhodesia, The Progress of, 247—area, population and climate, ib.—grievances of settlers, 248, 261—demand for responsible government, 249—period of agricultural and industrial development, 250—policy of the Chartered Company, 250 et seq.—result of concessions, 251—promotion of settlement, 252—sale of land, ib.—system of land taxation, 253—controversy as to the ownership of land, 254-256—mineral resources, 256—Mines and Minerals Ordinance, 257—total gold production, 258—development of railways, ib.—amount of rates, 259—receipts, 260—revenue and expenditure, ib.—dual position of the Chartered Company, 261—conditions of life, 262—number of schools, 263—efforts to promote education, ib.—language question, 264—trade, ib.

Richey, Mr, 'Short History of Ireland,' extract from, 425.

Rolin, Henri, 'Les Lois et l'Administration de la Rhodésie,' 254.

Rupee, value of, 470—estimate on the circulation, 473.

Russell, Lord Odo, his letters from Berlin, 310.

S.

Samuelson, Bernard, 'Socialism Rejected,' 208.

Sand, George, 315—publication of the third volume of her biography, ib.—period of the Second Empire, 317—style of her writings, 318, 336—characteristics, 319—her method of dealing with life, ib.—views on the relation of the sexes, 321—her friendship with Chopin, 322—personal genius and aptitude for dealing with men, ib.—presence of mind, 323—conditions attending and following the marriage of her daughter, 323-325, 332—her relations with Musset and Pagello, 324—'Lucrezia Floriani,' 326—her immunity from restrictive instincts, 327—breadth of rendering, ib.—'Mademoiselle Merquem,' 328—her mother, 329—the Nohant connections, 330-332—defection of Chopin, 335—letter to her daughter Solange, 337.

Sargant, E. B., 'British Citizenship,' edited by, 3.

Seely, Colonel, at the Cabinet Council, 583—his additional paragraphs to the memorandum, 584—repudiation of his assurance, 586—forced to resign, 587.

- Shale oil, production of, 181.
- Shaw, G. Bernard, his influence on the German drama, 87—his opinion of S. Butler's writings, 152.
- Smith, Garnet, 'The Contemporary German Drama,' 69.
- Socialism, views on the character, 204-208.
- Stevens, John, his description of the creaghts, 98.
- Strassburg, history of the Reformation in, 119.
- Strikes, risks from, insurance against, 461.
- Sturm, Jacob, his influence on the Reformation, 121—friendship with Bucer, ib.
- Sudermann, 'Ehre,' 74—'Johannes,' 85—his dramatic temperament, 92.
- Sykes, F. H., 'Aircraft in War,' 558.

T.

- Tagore, Rabindranath, 'Gitanjali,' 232—character of his mysticism, 234—'Sadhana,' 235 note—religious views, 235—'The Crescent Moon,' 238 note.
- Taylor, Sir H., his Autobiography, 296.
- Telegraphy, Inter-imperial, 134—importance of an organised system, ib.—need of an Imperial council, 135, 151—result of British cables under foreign control, 136-138—proposed Atlantic cable in connexion with Canada, 138—cost of the line, 139—reduction of rates, 140—tariff for deferred messages, 141—Imperial wireless scheme, 142—development of radio-telegraphy, 143—trial of a system, 144—policy of 'equality of opportunity,' 145—under control of the State, ib.—relative merits of cable and wireless, 146-151—the Marconi Trans-Atlantic service, 151.
- Tennyson, Lord, his lines on letters, 391—on the poems of Gray, 397, 411.

- Thompson, Francis, his mysticism, 226—'In no strange land,' ib.—publication of his works, 227—'Ecclesiastical Ballads,' 228—his attitude towards inanimate and human beauty, 229—essays on 'Form and Formalism,' 230—'Nature's Immortality,' ib.—'Hound of Heaven,' 231.

- Thorndike, Ashley H., 'The Maid's Tragedy and Philaster,' edited by, 38—'Influence of Beaumont and Fletcher on Shakspeare,' 44.

- Tovey, Duncan C., 'Gray's Letters,' 392, 398.

- Turkey, result of the war with Greece, in 1897, 486.

- Tyrrell, George, 'The Church and the Future,' 220.

U.

- Ulster, its position, 98—resistance to Home Rule justified, 269.

- Ulsterman, The Evolution of the, 96—variety of races, ib.—nomadic life of the creaghts, 97—position of Ulster, 98—revolution in the land system, 99—flight of the Earls of Tyrone and Tyrconnel, 100—result of the scheme of the Ulster Plantation, ib.—the grant of fixed tenures, 101—difference between the North and South, 102, 114—the Scots settlement, 102—their attachment to Ireland, 103—treatment of the natives, 104—siege of Derry, 105, 107—defeat of James II, 105-107—battle of the Boyne, 107—character of the artisan, 108—development of manufactures, 109—result of the Test Act, and number of emigrants, 110—outbreak of the American War of Independence, ib.—religious, agrarian and industrial wrongs, 111—development of the volunteer corps, 112—United Irish movement, 113—failure of the Repeal movement in 1843, 115.

- Underhill, Evelyn, 'Mysticism,' 223, 245—'Mystic Way,' 223, 243—her religious views, 244.

- Underwriters' Association formed, 454.

Unionist party, their pledge to support Ulster, 270—result of the proposed exclusion, 280-283.

United States, control of British cables, 136.

V.

Vagaries of Recent Political Economy: A Reply and Rejoinder, 174-177. See Political.

Vaughan, Henry, cryptic character of his writings, 353—his allegiance to the King, 354—influence of Milton on his poems, 355—'Daphnis,' 356—'The King Disguised,' 358—his Preface to 'Silex Scintillans,' 359, 361—criticisms on Milton's religious views, 362.

Venizélos, E., character of his rule in Greece, 490, 501—initiation of the Balkan League, 491, 501—his lofty conception of patriotism, 495-497.

Villiers, George, 292—his diplomatic career, 293—appointed Minister at Madrid, 293-296—succeeds to the title, 296—his characteristics, ib. See Clarendon.

Vissering, Dr G., 'On Chinese Currency,' extract from, 472.

W.

Wallis, H. M., 'The Devastation of Macedonia,' 506.

Walpole, Horace, friendship with Gray, 399—character of his letters, 404.

War, Aircraft in, 558. See Aircraft.

War, risks of, insurance against, 460.

Ward, Prof. James, 'Heredity and Memory,' 168.

Warren, T. H., 'The Letters of Thomas Gray,' 390.

Webster, Daniel, on the American Revolution, 269.

Whittemore, T., his evidence on the Intercepted Greek Letters, 521.

Widgery, Mr, his Introductory Note to 'Life's Basis and Life's Ideals,' 379.

Wildenbruch, 'Die Karolinger,' 70—'Haubenlerche,' 77—'Meister Balze,' ib.—his dramatic temperament, 92.

Wilson, Arthur, 'The History of Great Britain,' 28, 30.

Wilson, Philip, 'The Beginnings of Modern Ireland,' extract from, 430, 431, 440.

Wingfield-Stratford, Esmé, 'The History of English Patriotism,' 196.

Wireless Telegraphy scheme, 142—compared with cables, 146-151.

Wordsworth, W., his 'Sermon on the Sin of Poetic Diction,' 394—criticism of the 'Elegy,' 397.

Wyatt, Horace, and L. M. Meyrick Jones, 'Motor Transport: A National Question,' 178.

Z.

Zwingli, his disputes with Luther, 124—views on the presence of Christ in the Sacrament, 125-127—death, 127.

END OF THE TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTIETH VOLUME.

y and ers of erican

n the 1.

Note
icals,'

r,' 70
elster opera-

ry of gs of i, 430,

'The
icism,'

142—
l.

n on 394—

yrick
: A

ther, e of 127—

E.